The Six Kalimah, also known as the Six Traditions or the Six Phrases, are six Islamic phrases often recited by South Asian Muslims. The phrases are taken in part taken from hadiths. Recitation of the Six Kalimahs is taught in India, Pakistan, Bangladesh and other South Asian countries' madrasas. Religious leaders are expected to be able to recite them, and the Pakistani Ministry of Religious Affairs in one instance earned political criticism for appointing a man who was not able to recite them a

Six Kalimas - Wikipedia

The six kalimas, possibly taken from the Arabic كلمة kalima, i.e. "word," is only a South Asian innovation with no basis found in the Islamic Shariah. All Islamic teachings are derived from either of the two primary sources of the Quran and Sunnah/Hadith. All the six kalimas came into existence to facilitate the easy memorization and learning of Aqeedah (beliefs).
